Read the following passage, and then answer the questions: Overpopulation refers to an undesirable condition in which the number of existing human beings exceeds the actual carrying capacity of the earth. It has many causes which range from a decline in the death rate to early marriages and more. The ill-effects of overpopulation are quite severe. Our planet can produce only a limited amount of water and food. Thus, overpopulation causes environmental damage including deforestation, pollution, etc. Moreover, it rises due to overpopulation. There are more people than job opportunities. As a result, unemployment gives rise to crimes like theft and more. We also have pandemics and epidemics which happen due to overpopulation. Another ill-effect is malnutrition and starvation. When there are scarce resources, these diseases will likely be on the rise. Most importantly, we have a shortage of water which makes it tougher for people to get access to clean water. There are many solutions which we may take up to prevent overpopulation. The best measure is family planning to ensure proper spacing between the births of the children and limiting the number of children as per income. The government must make the horrors of overpopulation reach the pu use of media. Moreover, better overpopulation reach the public through the use of media. Moreover, better education can help implement social change which can curb overpopulation. Many governments of countries waive a certain part of income tax for married couples with one or two children. All in all, overpopulation is no less than a curse that poses a permanent threat to the development of any country. It is essential to stop the flood of population. To do that, one must indulge in proper family planning and creating balance in society for a better world.
